When Holland blooms, this Tulip-rich neighborhood attracts a lot of attention. Be sure to say, “Hi,” as tourists snap shots of Tulip Lanes. But this place is brilliant any time of year. Imagine strolls past beautifully preserved historic homes and down tree-lined boulevards on your way to Kollen Park, the Farmers Markets, or making your way to our amazing Downtown. Here, a nice walk is always a charming trip.

Super central.

With sidewalks throughout this neighborhood, you’re a ten minute stroll from Downtown, neighborhood parks and yearly events like Tulip Time, Tulipanes Latino Art & Film Festival, Art in the Park. You’re also right next to Washington Square, a minute by car from Holland Hospital and the Aquatic Center, plus, you’re centrally located so you can get anywhere quickly. If you don’t feel like driving, ride the MAX Bus, there’s probably a stop right where you need one.

Super historic.

With homes built before the turn-of-the-last-century, this neighborhood is passionate about preserving the charm and integrity of this impressive area. With groups working together and active interest from residents, this is a historic neighborhood with a bright future.

Waterfront Dining.

Boatwerks Waterfront Restaurant hits the spot for waterside dining. Good and gorgeous. Open 7 days a week, including breakfast on Sundays. Looking for more dining options? Take a short walk to Washington Square or Downtown for close to 30 more options.

Kollen Park.

This is one of the nation’s great waterside grass parks and home to fireworks, festivals, summer concerts, fishing and of course, our awesome Heinz Boardwalk that gives you the perfect waterside place to stroll, hang out and enjoy life.

Cool old theatre. Cool new library.

Let’s start with a venue that you should pay attention to! Once strictly cinema, now the Park Theatre is home to concerts, comedy, dinner theatre, dance parties, festivals, and more. Everyone in Holland knows the Park Theatre, and if you choose the Historic District, it’s practically in your backyard.

If you’re the type to ingest books, you just found another reason to move into the Historic District. The Herrick District Library is home to hundreds of thousands of books, movies, music and magazines. It’s also the place to join a tech lunch or writers group. Or you can sign up for summer reading programs, attend story time, even get into board games, or just sit around wondering exactly what kind of library this is anyway.

WHY THE HISTORIC DISTRICT?

THIS NEIGHBORHOOD IS SUPER CENTRAL TO ALL AREAS IN THE CITY.

HISTORIC HOMES BUILT BEFORE OR EARLY IN THE 20TH CENTURY PROVIDE THE SETTING AND THE CHARACTER.

A NEIGHBORLY NEIGHBORHOOD WITH BLOCK PARTIES, ICE CREAM SOCIALS AND SNOWMAN MAKING CONTESTS.
